</lyrics>

Suddenly, I remembered a sad song
Though it was night, concealed under the blanket of summer,
I was crying
For even as I quickened my pace in the cold rain, I could not find the thing I lost your song

On the way home, not letting go of your fingers,
The sound of a distant train changed into a gentle sea rumbling,
Together listening

I called out for you when I was a child, to the south of INDIO
Here in this book we wrote down the ship's departure
The sun was not clouded, in that dry wind.
I alone am wandering through the illusionary land, even now

I don't want to forget what you gave me
I listen carefully to the sea rumbling far away
On my own
