

Selena, La Llamada (English Translation)

Please remember! This translation is my personal work. It is sometimes difficult to translate word for word.

Hello?

It's me amor, before you hang up, just let me explain...

Don't call me again, trying to explain that what I saw wasn't true

You should be ashamed of yourself for trying to convince me that you're faithful and sincere

I saw you with her, you can't deny that those were your lips that were kissing her

It didn't do you any good trying to pretend that you were only chatting, don't lie anymore

If you call me again, I'll hang up again

I'm already tired of hearing more excuses and lies

Don't call me again, I'm not going to forgive you

Another chance, I won't give you

You're not worth it