Sentenced, Epic

(now flee...)

I flee...back to the time when man was true I see...life as it was meant for me

On this trail I meet my ancestors On this trail I find their wisdom From the wall of frozen time I see my own reflection

Born...in the wrong century Torn...to a wrong reality

A winter chill - A frozen, dead reality A blackened will - A strange, macabre certainty

Pagan roots! Heathen life!

...if life was...EPIC!

My heart belongs to the past - I feel attraction for the night my mind to the ancient times - I view this life like a lifeless rock I want to be trapped under ice within my peaceful glacial tomb Far from the epoch of trend In the Aeon of Frost - In league with the North!

On this trail I meet my ancestors On this trail I find their wisdom From the wall of frozen time I see my own reflection

Born...in the wrong century Torn...to a wrong reality

Our northernmost hearts don't belong to this world...