Sepultura, Hungry

Rotting skinny corpses left alone They're like an endless disease Invisible, painful, eternal Creatures fucked by a greedy past

Since you are born You want to make money and power A simple fuel to the corrupt Way of mankind

Hungry for living, to live like a slave Without knowing your master You have no value, you're just another one Death will quench your hunger

Hunger for confidence To shake the hand of your best friend And later to be betrayed The law rules the mind of ignorance

Hungry for pleasure You act like a robot The tears in your eyes As red as blood

Your pleasure is pain Your pleasure is torture Hunger is your pleasure Hungry for the future