

Sepultura, The Rift

Men is not alone in this world and
Mankind is not completely absurd
Breaking men ground to build and to grow
Advancing their lives for better or worse

In a world growing fast we're losing touch
Cultivating hate and forging rules
Closing our eyes we search the sky
Expectations are from religion

What went wrong
I don't believe you

It's been around for thousands of years at least
There's nothing new with another catastrophe
A sense to move on is filling the air

What went wrong
I don't believe you
What went wrong
I don't believe you

Men is not alone in this world and
Mankind is not completely absurd
Breaking men ground to build and to grow

Kashmir - Colombia - Rio - New York
Old wars revived to revenge a lost
Taking what's left and burning it down
Creating oposition

What went wrong
I don't believe you
What went wrong
I don't believe you
