Serafin, No Happy

Sunday morning a revelation I saw myself as my own salvation I banged my head against the brick wall and I turned around it was him

He said gently now " Who is it? Your daddy? " And I said " I did not know, but sadly Make a sound and make it loud With the lightness of a cloud Write a song about today There is nothing more to say. "

He said "I thought that nothing matterred Thats why my perception is in tatters Come with me and I'll show you something Come with me and you'll see Look over there where that bird is standing" And I sat next to the one thats landing "That bird knows how good it feels To exist beneith the wheels Of a tidal wave of pain And his happiness will gain."

Go and get no happy Go and get no happy

I thank you men
now I feel much better
Now that Im aware
of my nature
'Cause before I was sick in the head
Now it could be your own
Before you go
can I ask one more thing?
He said "yes"
as he started yawning

"How can I feel morally rich when I live inside a bitch? And the truth is so far down that its easy to let it drown?"

He said "Listen to yourself You sound just like someone else If you really feel this way Why dont you end it today?"

((Chorus))
