

Serena Ryder, Hiding Place

If your radio didn't work and your friends all ran away
Would you let yourself fall in love, if only for one day?
Are you one of the ones who decides first off, would you let me touch your face?
If I decided not to decide at all, could I be the empty space?
Darling let me touch your face
Let your skin be my hiding place.
Promise I won't take up too much room.
Darling can I touch your face
Let your eyes fall to love's embrace.
Forever isn't far, it's coming soon.
Look at all the love around you.
Look at all the love that's found you
Darling, whatta you think you're made of?

You're always watching and waiting
While everyone else's heart is breaking
Darling, what're you so afraid of?
If your radio didn't work, and your friends all ran away
Would you let yourself fall in love, if only for one day?
Are you one of the ones who decides for a song,
Would you let me touch your face?
If I decided not to side at all could I be the empty space?
Darling let me touch your face, let your skin be my hiding place.
I promise I won't take up too much room.
Darling let me touch your face.
Let your eyes fawn to love's embrace.
Forever isn't far, it's coming soon.