

Serenity, The Final Crusade

Let me write these final words and turn the page
Of a book that tells a story of crusades

For the cross I lived my life until the end
For the throne and all the memories I saved

Time – time has come
Time to die
Surrender all you have

Pray – before you're gone
To your god
One last time

Angles come down tonight
There's no longer a distance
Between heaven and my life
To the light they guide me

On my way to horizon
It's time to say goodbye
And justice was my aim
My Legacy won't die

Tale a look back on my journey through this world
From the shores at home into the holy land

If I had to choose this path of life and pain
For my God I swear I'll do it all again.
