

Seven Channels, Electric Voices

think i'll lie here for a while inside out embrace your smile all the jaded memories they bring me right to my knees you say hope i don't now fade away i reach into you everyday cause i want to be with you as I want to be with you electric voices and what they said i don't mind if you stay a while with me i want to be consumed with you and i want to be with you take me to the place that runs so true and i don't care if i try to run away you say i'm ok you're ok what's the point of this now anyway when i want to be with you and i want to be with you and i find you in my soul finally time i let it go to you electric voices and what they said

all the jaded memories they bring me right to my knees you say i'm ok you're ok what's the point of this now anyway when i want to be with you i want to be
