Seven Nations, All You People

All you people Won't you come into the light There's no need to fight anymore today All you people All you people

It seems so strange to me That when we can talk so clear We leave so much in doubt When we can talk so clear We leave so much in doubt

All you people While my song is in the air You're all welcome to share my smoke, my wine All you people All you people

And it seems so strange to me
When we can talk so clear
We leave so much in doubt
When we can talk so clear
We leave so much in doubt
And I still wonder what the fussing
And the fighting and the shouting's all about

Na na na na na, all you people Na na na na na, all you people Na na na na na, all you people I'm already gone So don't wake me because I'm already gone Don't wake me I'm already gone
