

Sewing With Nancie, On Your Mark

How quickly people change it, the face to the heel.
How quickly coolness takes over, and changes the way one can feel.
How quickly the "face in the crowd" is polluting the scene.
How strong can one man become hiding behind a screen?
It's funny how people who know you, don't even know you at all.
So say what you like about people who know you, but who will be there when you fall?

Take the time to open up your eyes and see the world is different.
If you take the time, open your mind, show me the person that I met the first time.

[Chorus:]

And when you can see, take a look at yourself (do you even like it at all?)
The things that you say always get back to someone else (who will be there when you fall?)
So when you can see, take a look at yourself (do you even like it at all?)
The things that you say always get back to someone else, on your Mark.

When you think the world revolves around you
Sincerity's gone, and you're blinded.
Well you can be fake, I'm staying true.
My head on my shoulders, this is where I'll stay!

'Cause I'll never stoop down to you.

Thanks to Karen (karenmiller@hotmail.com) for these lyrics