

Shades Apart, Seeing Things

when i hear the stories that you tell it's make believe i know it if i could only live inside your world it's different there i know it it's so hard to keep from falling down you can always trust yourself you're seeing things not all there you're seeing things every time i look into your eyes a picture is completed it's impossible to focus on the truth it draws me in i can't leave it's so hard to find the strength to fight look beyond the ordinary things the vision is not over help me find the wonder in it all you are my one reminder now i know you've got a better way