

Shades Apart, Spell

what left to discover by now i've seen it all live the same day over and over the world become so small slipping by the second deeper into gray until i look into your eyes until you say my name - never the same under your spell - you mystify me after the world runs out of magic give me something to believe i under your spell ?you mystify me after the world gives up on magic you'll be the one i still believe starving for the real thing sick of shams and the lies you show up - a dose of lightning opening up the sky - before my eyes

make my heart start beating the sun and the moon collide stars will fall out in the street when i see you tonight
