

Shael Riley, Bits And Pieces

Hello, my darling
I know I've been away from you for so long but I can tell from the hum of your motherboard fan our relationship is still going strong.

(Hello, my darling.
I get turned on when you sit at my table.
My CD-ROM skips and my heatsync enlists.
You make my OS unstable.)

We found and fixed her using gasoline and broken doll parts.
The mechanical girl from the magical world
had wormed her way into our hearts.

In times of turmoil,
now we can count on the girl with the glasses,
busting caps into heads, leaving criminals dead.
She'll fit it in between classes.

'Coz even when I go
(Even when I go)
I could never leave.
(I could never leave.)
I just wanna
Be on the receiving end of your energy beams
(Be on the receiving end of your energy beams.)
and explosions.
Somewhere far away,
(Somewhere far away,)
far away from me,
(far away from me)
I'll love you to bits
(I love you to bits)
and pieces.
(and pieces.)

The fate of the planet
depends on her putting up a good fight,
but she will never be beat;
she's too light on her feet. She'll always be back in bed before midnight.

Her friends
from highschool
are in constant need of her protection,
but if anyone dies
love-love power to try.
I've got a huge resurrection.

Even when I go
(Even when I go)
I could never leave.
(I could never leave.)
I just wanna
Touch your face and run my hands over you body and things (Touch your face and run my hands over you body and things.)
of that nature.
Somewhere far away,
(Somewhere far away,)
far away from me,
(far away from me)
I'll love you to bits
(I love you to bits)

and pieces.
(and pieces.)

She's always hanging out with people that I know.
She's never one to second guess.
Dressed in silky ribbons, armour and a bow, she must fight back the darkness again. La la la la!

I love you to bits
(I love you to bits)
and pieces
(and pieces)
I love you to bits
(I love you to bits)
and pieces
(and pieces)
I love you too...
ah.