

Shai Hulud, My Heart Bleeds The Darkest Blood

No Contact

I have to let you die.

I have to let you fade.

So spare me the male accusations.

I would have told you those things you wanted to hear

And I would have cared

The way you thought no one ever would.

And now my heart bleeds cold.

I refuse to be caressed by stone.

I now live emotionless and free from your pain.

My heart bleeds the darkest blood.

I die

I am dead

The way you thought know one, know one ever would

My heart, as cold as stone

A rock feels no pain, A rock feels no pain, A rock feels no.....pain

My heart, as cold as stone

No laughter, No loving, No Contact