

Shanice, Don't Fight It

I've been in need of some affection

How did I end up in your direction?

You're still friends with my ex-boyfriend

I don't know if I was wrong to pretend

That I never thought of you and me as getting it on

Just so happens that I'm still all alone

Know that I've turned you down before

But I won't turn you down no more, baby

Hook

If you check me out

You can let me know

I'm not gonna fight it if my heart says so

If you wanna put it down

Baby you should know

I'm not gonna fight it no more

If you wanna check me out

You can let me know

I'm not gonna fight it if my heart says so

If you wanna put it down

Baby you should now

I'm not gonna fight it no more

I've been thinking 'bout your attention

Ever since the day you began to mention

That you wanted me oh so very long

Never really knew you were feeling that strong

It could be confusion with you and your boy

Far as I'm concerned I ain't there no more

My love it's been enough time

When I can't get you off my mind

I never thought it would ever be real
Can't stop thinking bout the way I feel boy
Never thought of it as right before
But I can't let him keep me unhappy no more

Didn't think it would happen to me
Making a decision over history
Is it wrong to be into you?
What am I supposed to do
And he's not thinking 'bout me baby
