Sharon Van Etten, Break Me

No show Isn't that how it goes? No show He makes He's making room for me in the city He makes

He can break me With one hand to my, head Go in dark, dear Dissipate my fears, letting me, in He let's me in

He knows That I love him, I know he is home He knows Sirens Sirens are far from me Safe and alone

He can make me Move into a city on my knees He can take in everything Hoping he let's me in I, I let you in

I am writing about him home I am, I am writing a song for him

He can break me With one hand to my, head He can make me move into a city Taking me as I am As he let's me in