

Sheens, Hey You (Comon Paradise Edit)

(Hey you)
Hey you
Do you want to see whats comming up next, dont you?
Hey you
Why you think you are so very different from me?
Hey you
I can tell yo are the lonesome kind
Why dont you run from the wackie walls you are hiding in?

Hey you,
We are so much like vegabonds found their home
Me too
I don think your words matter as much as to be told
Hey you
I can tell now you are of the happiest kind
Call me
When u realize where we headed tonight

Waiting for the atmosphere to thicken into blue ice
Is the distance so long or my legs are just telling me such a bad lies
Can you see the sun is gonna tease us a wonderful sunrise
I bet today is the best moment ever supposed to be given

Hey you
Hey you,
Do you think you're so clever when talking like radio?
I know
You can do anything to keep up whith the new trends
Hey you
Do you have any real friends at all?
Why do you sleep alone, when you have one thousand likes?

Hey you
We are running so long but the next stop is so close
We're young
And we're easily messing things up with the right ones
Hey you,
Never tell me again that we should just quite down
When we breaking the old things to build new things on top

(We're young and we?)

Waiting for the atmosphere to thicken into blue ice
Is the distance so long or my legs are telling lies
Can you see the sun is going to tease us a wonderful sunrise
I want you to keep forever like that

Waiting for the atmosphere to thicken into blue ice
Can you see the sun is going to
I bet today is the best moment ever supposed to be given