Sheryl Crow, Lifetimes

Take off your halo, take off your golden crown The spotlight's off, the shades are down Where are your friends now, they're ghosts in a windowpane Sometimes it's hard to stay the same

We can live lifetimes in a single day No matter what you do, I love you anyway You say if you're lost inside; well, I get lonely, too Even in the worst of times, I give my best to you

I dreamed I was swimming, fighting the undertow Drifting in circles, no place to go And when I woke up, I was wringing wet So much stronger than before

We can live lifetimes in a single day No matter what you do, I love you anyway You say if you're lost inside; well, I get lonely, too Even in the worst of times, I give my best to you

The words escape The silence made The looks betray I'm not afraid

We can live lifetimes in a single day No matter what you do, I love you anyway You say if you're lost inside; well, I get lonely, too Even in the worst of times, I give my best to you Even in the worst of times, I give my best to you
