

Shiny Toy Guns, Blown Away

Days, I haven't seen days
Just solid water run down my face
Days, I've missed so many days
In a world that has become an unfamiliar place
Now to you I'm just an unfamiliar face

I'm losing myself again
You swore you'd be around this time

When revelation calls
And everything is blown away
When revelation calls
And everything is blown away
Blown away

Will you still be there with your heart boarded up
Nailed with my mistakes
Should I start giving up
Or am I too late
Is losing myself again
Turning us into friends this time

When revelation calls
And everything is blown away
When revelation calls
And everything is blown away
Blown away

Shattered days, everybody wants more
If taken away, everybody wants yours
These shattered days, everybody wants more
We never change

When revelation calls
And everything is blown away
When revelation calls
And everything is blown away
Blown away