

Shirley Murdock, In Your Eyes

When I woke up this morning
The very first thing I saw was your face, mmm, hmm
Dawn cannot erase the memory or the magic
That we made, hmm, hmm

My heart skips a beat
As I watch you while you sleep
For my heart is the window to my soul
And true love is what I see
When you look at me
When you look at me

In your eyes I see kindness
In your eyes I see honesty
In your eyes I see patience
Oh, baby, in your eyes I see love

When I woke up this morning
I saw you and felt so warm inside, so warm inside
Nothing is impossible with you right here
By my side

And every night before I sleep
I thank the Lord for blessing me with you
And true love is what I see
When you look at me
When you look at me

In your eyes I see kindness
In your eyes I see honesty
In your eyes I see patience
Oh, baby, in your eyes, in your eyes, in your eyes I see love

In your eyes