

Silverstein, Broken Stars

Shooting daggers at me
Letting it be known you're not impressed
I never fail at failing all your tests
Don't be so proud,
'Cause you're still so scared to be alone
You can't change your mind
You won't embrace this
But you'll accept this
You can't let go
Broken stars,
By a single shattered mirror
Seven years of trust
I know you'll never change for anyone
A cold heart never lusts
My mind's made up
And I would know I'd do the right thing
Get up and stand tall!
My mind's made up
Why am I scared? I won't be able
To get up when I fall
We cast a single shadow for so long now
It's so hard to see the sun at all (the sun at all)
But you need light to see the lighting on the wall
My mind's made up
And I would know I'd do the right thing
Get up and stand tall!
My mind's made up
Why am I scared? I won't be able
To get up when I fall...
...into the hole I've made
I place myself alone
I'll find the strength within myself
To climb out on my own, own!
My mind's made up (made up)
And I would know I'd do the right thing
Get up and stand tall!
My mind's made up (made up)
Why am I scared? I won't be able
To get up when I fall
Yeah!
These broken stars
Should be brought back up in the sky
I still can't feel your scars!
I won't, I won't let you die!
We won't, we won't fade away!
And now, right now,
save this lonely place!
