

Simon Townshend, Shine Your Light

Been bad, so bad
I take back all the things I've done and I've said
I've been a fool, such a fool, wish I make it all right by releasing you
What you do you do with your life is your interest,
It's not my business
I don't want to tie you down I just need this trust and forgiveness
Baby shine your light on me, shine your light on me
Shine your light so everyone can see, shine your light on me
I've been numb, so numb
I miss the point that what you needed was a little less love
I held on so tightly that my love became a prison
You fought to survive me
So I just want to tell you I know you but I don't own you
You pull me out of the hell that I go to when I can't show you
Baby shine your light on me, honey, shine your light on me
Let me be the one you want to see, shine your light on me
Shining light is love, trust and forgiveness
So everyone can see what we still have together
Been bad, so bad
I take back all the things I've done and I've said
I've been a fool, such a fool, wish I make it all right by releasing you
What you do you do with your time is your interest,
It's not my business
You pull me out of the hell that I go to when I can't show you
Just wanna show you
Baby shine your light on me, baby shine your light on me
Shine your light so everyone can see
Shine your light on me, shine your light on me
Let me be the one you want to see, shine your light on me
