

Siouxsie and The Banshees, Dancing On Glass

With your mouth around the bottle-then you smash it on the hearth reach out for another one-don't laughing in the crimson rain-we feel no pain with shards in our soles we'll dance again and again on with your mouth around the bottle-then you smash it on the hearth forget tomorrow's mess-because