

Sirenica, Concealed disdain

I can't stand this life no more
I can't stand what I've become
Wheel of fire, life undone
I've always felt so broken
Lost signs and waning tokens
The nameless pain remains unspoken

Someone's at my door
I hear a voice I've never heard before
A stranger calling my name
Concealed disdain
Life drives me insane

I cut my veins wide open
I can't stand this life sober
The burden of time pulls me under
This existence torn me asunder
This time I'm free at last
Free from pain and a haunting past

Someone's at my door
I hear a voice I've never heard before
A stranger calling my name
Concealed disdain
Life drives me insane

Lunacy and toil
Are consuming my soul
Life demoralize me
Won't you all just leave me be

Someone's at my door
I hear a voice I've never heard before
A stranger calling my name
Concealed disdain
Life drives me insane
Drives me insane
Drives me insane
Drives me insane