

Sirenia, Lithium And A Lover

When all my demons set their sails and my mind is riding the last train Down a one-way track to the final station Destination Devastation

A thousand demons at my door screaming at my crumbling walls My river's bleeding, my fields are burning My world has stopped turning

I will be your lithium and I will be your lover

Give me something for my mind something for the pain inside A remedy, a cure for life
An elixir for this manica of mine

Give me what I'm deep in need of a sanctuary beyond this cruel world A peerless cure-all to recover Like lithium and lover...