Sjón, Dignity

Take your things Change your number too And never let me try again You've written in my heart I had my (?) mouth You've written in my heart And I'm alone now

I want you to disappear For years and miles from here And I hope our thoughts will be On your mind You should start new life And padlock (?) For age without dignity Dignity You, so pretty and lovely soul To step into (?) like me Oh, please Oh, please Let me suffer for as

There will be a man To Kiss you in public place There will be a man To Hold your hand There will be a man To Kiss you in public place There will be a man To Hold your hand
