

Skillet, Boundries

I stand here closed and open
Praying for the summer rains
Reaching in to pull back the curtains
Ruling in this desolate land
I will let me go my walls melt away
You have no boundries You cross my borders
You have no boundries You crash my borders
I lie here clothed and naked
Dam bursts to cool ocean waves
Black water cleans the highway
Resting in the washing away
I will let me me go my walls melt away
You have no boundries You cross my borders
You have no boundries You crash my borders
You are more than all that is outside of me
You are more than that which is inside of me
You have no boundries I have no borders
From You
You have no boundries I have no borders
