

Slapp Happy, The Secret

There he goes, my hero in wonderful clothes

- passing me by, giving me the eye
- he's my guy & he really keeps a secret.

From the start his message went straight to my heart & over my head

- heavy as lead
- I'd tell you what he said, but I swore I'd keep it secret.

There's something hypnotising 'bout the way he walks -

There's something supernatural 'bout the way he talks -

Coming from another world I know he doesn't find it easy -

Keeps me up every night telling me the same old story -

I told him it's alright no matter what he does he never really bores me.

strike a light he's making my days into night

- mercury man does everything he can
- and my only plan is to keep his secret secret

There's something hypnotising 'bout the way he walks -

There's something supernatural 'bout the way he talks -

Coming from another world I know he doesn't find it easy -

Keeps me up every night telling me the same old story -

I told him it's alright no matter what he does he never really bores me.
