

Sleater Kinney, My Stuff

say no way
we won't let them grow up that way things have changed but some things have stayed the same hold on to what you want to but some things are passed down anyway hold on to what i want to i don't think i know what i just leave me without a god without belief with out a cause without a path that i should take without a choice that a should make such an easy thought and now i had it out i lost it i guess i need your help and now i guess i need your help and now i say no way
don't let things go on this way a clean slate
but it don't work that way
hold on to what you want to
i will have to own what i have it's not my stuff it's just too much it's just my stuff it's just my
