

Sleeper, Because Of You

because of you
I fall asleep for hours we're made of glue
our bodies crushed and tired I lie and lie
and now a most peculiar wave arrives
how it breaks my guard
waits for me
while we slide apart
I know you're taking me nowhere and now theres nothing else to say I never was a fan
of the winter
so you'll understand
if I don't stay
we're sick today
turns out we're only hiding got clean away
so nothing clever finds us we lie and lie

and all this mess we never talk about gathers dust and doubt somebody take the rubbish out and on what falvour day did you scramble away
was I lost
or tired or sleeping didn't I look too great was it moments too late when you noticed
your mistake
everyday I know you're taking me nowhere
and now there's nothing else I can say I never was a fan of the winter
I never was a fan of the winter time so you'll forgive me if I don't stay
