Sloan, Listen To The Radio

Listen to the radio Where did everybody go? There's silence all around you know I say it again come on in

Voices in the static fade Riding out the echo waves moving in and out of things I say it again come on back

It's on my hands I can't wash it away It's on my hands I can't wash it away

Listen to the radio
The signal noise ratio
But frequencies have all gone cold
Leaving me here transmission

No one's gonna say my name No one's gonna share the blame Nothing's gonna grow again For the rest of my life in my new world

It's on my hands I can't wash it away It's on my hands I can't wash it away

It's on my hands It's on my hands

Listen to the radio Where did everybody go? There's silence all around you know I say it again come on in
