

Snitch, Save Your Breath

you were drunk that night and couldn't walk but you sure as hell could talk it all came out without a thought bet you thought that i'd forget but i remember what you said it's imbedded in my head get away from me

don't come back

it's over now there's no way out so please don't shout the words you said have made your bed so save your breath

i'm so happy now you're finally gone how could i have been so wrong how do you like it alone i felt a little sad the day you packed your bags but now you're gone and all i feel right now is glad you'll be out my life once and for all you're two faced you liar just came to say we're over