

Something Beautiful, The Lie

Guilty or innocent in a sense, maybe I think theres more to see
I cant forget or just leave it (leave it!) all behind me, cause I cant breathe
They say the lie and wash it over with tragedy
Betray the lie, love dont forget,
This is our destiny, despite the lie.
We cannot live this way, in slavery, no matter the man of cloth may say
If life is meaningless your emptiness is not enough
Dont fucking treat me like an animal!
Then say the lie, and close the door. Lets all just walk away
Just say the right words dont forget,
Were all pretending nothings wrong tonight.
And play it off like theres nothing to say, listen to me wait,
Dont let it all die
Pretentious in a sense, isnt it that anyone judges you or me?
In every saint theres a sinner buried deep, crying out,
In every Christian theres a cannibal
That prays and lies, and nothing more, lets all just walk away.
Dont pray tonight, love, no regrets
And stop pretending nothings wrong