

Something With Numbers, Perfect Match

she stood at the window and watched as he walked away it was so good at the start why did it end up this way she had denied (she had denied) all that she felt inside and now that he's gone she wondered what the fuck went wrong and as the rain hit his head he wondered what he'd done she'd been so good to him since they had begun he felt so bad (he felt so bad) now that he lost what he had
and now that he's gone
he remembers all the times that they shared two broken hearts (two broken hearts) why did they fall apart what went wrong