

Sonique, Learn To Forget

Oohhh

The selfish way I've learnt to live
With it all take and none left to give
It's strange the change we're left to face
When love is gone I find myself back at square one
I gotta learn to forget

There's no future in the past
Only memories that fade
Speak with my heart not my head
'Cause some things are better left unsaid
Guess you and I were never meant to be Seems the more I look, the less I see
Wasting time when I'm trying to find
The thing that we lost for far too long
And now it's back to square one

I gotta learn to forget
There's no future in the past
Only memories that fade
Speak with my heart not my head
'Cause some things are better left
Wish that I could change the things I said about you
Wish that I could change the way that you feel
And God knows I'd die to be in your arms again
Chase away the hurt, kiss away the pain

I gotta learn to forget
There's no future in the past
Only memories that fade
Speak with my heart not my head
Learn to forgive and forget
Love's empty words and regrets
'Cause some things are better left unsaid