

Sons Of The East, Hard To Tell

Drove my car for a thousand miles
Drove all night to see you smile
People ask me where I been
I been gone since way back when
Well it's hard to tell, it's hard to tell
Where a cold rain's gonna fall
Well it's hard to tell, yeah, it's hard to tell
Hard to tell sometimes at all
Sun, it shines in the pouring rain
I look back and you're gone again
Sold your stuff 'cause you're moving on
To find somewhere that you belong
Well it's hard to tell, it's hard to tell
Where a cold rain's gonna fall
Well it's hard to tell, yeah it's hard to tell
Hard to tell sometimes at all
Gon' listen out for a warning bell
Time ain't waiting anymore
Well it's hard to tell, yeah it's hard to tell
Hard to tell sometimes at all
Alright
Feel the days are stretching long
Stretching out to way beyond
Only know the things I see
What you want and what you need
Well it's hard to tell, yeah, it's hard to tell
Where a cold rain's gonna fall
Yeah, it's hard to tell, yeah, it's hard to tell
Hard to tell sometimes at all
Gon' listen out for a warning bell
'Cause time ain't waiting anymore
Well it's hard to tell, yeah, it's hard to tell
Hard to tell sometimes at all
