

Sophie Barker, Dream Life

Woke up this morning with the clouds on my head
Had to push away the dead leaves that had landed on the bed
I know that life is changing my time is coming round
Got to embrace the unknown with my feet firmly on the ground

Dream life dream life over me
Dream life dream life

You once said to me it's what you give not what you take
That allows you to see the strong from the weak
How many years have I been stumbling with my head in the clouds
I see the stars above me I got to bring them down inside

Dream life dream life over me
Dream life dream life

Dream life dream life...
