

Sophie Ellis-Bextor, Can't Have It All

I tell myself I can't have you it's something that I'll ignore I tell myself I don't need you but I'm falling, falling once more and everyday it gets harder to pick my heart of the floor I say it over and over girl, you can't have it all, you can't have it all

I dream that you bring me your love only in my dreams, it's not enough

I keep on telling myself, telling myself
I can't have, can't have it all, can't have it all
I keep on telling myself I can't have it all
I can't have you

And now I'm learning to live, learning to live I'm learning to live on without having your love returning I can't have it all but all that I want is you

You remain in the twilight with eyes that look but don't see and I'm a book lying open while you're a lock with no key

I kid myself every morning that the ache for you is no more
I dream that you bring me your love

I keep on telling myself, telling myself
I can't have, can't have it all, can't have it all
I keep on telling myself I can't have it all
I can't have you

And now I'm learning to live, learning to live
I'm learning to live on without
having your love returning
I can't have it all you're all that I want

Why won't I listen when I hear them saying you're better off without a heart that's breaking though I'm fool enough to love when you don't want me
I'm wise enough to know that you will always haunt me [repeat]

I keep on telling myself, telling myself
I can't have, can't have it all, can't have it all
I keep on telling myself I can't have it all
I can't have you

And now I'm learning to live, learning to live
I'm learning to live on without
having your love returning
I can't have it all
but all that I want is you

Why won't I listen when I hear them saying you're better off without a heart that's breaking (is you) though I'm fool enough to love when you don't want me
I'm wise enough to know that you will always haunt me

And now I'm learning to live, learning to live
I'm learning to live on without
having your love returning
I can't have it all
you're all that I want