

Sordid Humor, Iceland

At any given time there's really only weather all the people talk about they can forget it sometimes it's cold sometimes it's not but the way your warmness makes me feel spinning down the coast in our bikinis and our buffalo coats in the back room of the basement she keeps a tiger I'm just happy when I'm inside her and I wonder what it feels like and I wonder...
I wonder what it's like

Living in Iceland
Living in Iceland
I'm living in Iceland Iceland
and I wonder what it feels like to be here.

When I push her up against the wall cinder blocks fall down from heaven and there's happiness when I can get it in and we walk around the tiger skin in circles over and over and over again
and I wonder what it feels like and i wonder...
I wonder what it's like

Living in Iceland
Living in Iceland
and I wonder what it feels like to be here.
