

South Park, It Happenned In Sun Valley

Howdy folks lets go for a ride get your favorite one to sit on your side cuddle up in a sleigh gitti up neligray
and away we go Why you listen to the sleighbells ring you'll yodleing to your babby you'll feel nice and warm no matter how cold it may be Take a look at little Jack and Jill they ski down a hill there's a snow plow turned, look there's a spill there's a spill on a hill when your down it's a thrill to get up again everybody better learn to ski cause that's how we first met we were that Jack and Jill that came down a hill when I looked at you my heart took a spill took a spill on a hill it's a thrill i can't forget It happened at Sun Valley o so very long ago there were sun beats in the snow, and a twinkle in your eye I remember, o so clearly, that you nearly passed me by Then it happened in Sun Valley when you slipped and fell and so did I I remember, o so clearly, that you nearly passed me by Then it happened in Sun Valley when you tripped and fell and so did I Now every year we go reanact we recall that fall and that moment when we were there on the hill so we both take spill and we're Jack and Jill again
