

Spark, Torn

What is the time, oh I've fallen again
How can' You love me with my life of sin
My eyes want everything that I see
They pull me down when I think I'm free
Each day I try to focus on You
But it always seems something gets in my view

(chorus)
I'm being torn between two worlds
Once that my eyes see
And one that my heart feels

I'm being torn between two worlds
One I know that's right
And one I know that's wrong

How is it that you can explain your love
Each time I fall, Your hand's reaching from above
My heart calls out to You ever hour
But I always seem to fall like rain in a shower
This struggle within keeps pulling me down
I feel so lost, Lord make me found