

Spirogyra, I Hear You're Going Somewhere (Joe

When I was a young man they said you know a young man should always keep his head out of the clouds And head for sunny weather to keep himself together in case forever complicates his brain
I hear you're really going somewhere Joe
I hear you're really going somewhere Joe

And when I was a good man so completely should man there were no mistakes I could have made Oh but fate she's evil oh she's really evil dealing double trouble, no-one's safe
I hear you're really going somewhere Joe
I hear you're really going somewhere Joe

I haven't got the luck it takes You've got me wrong
it's your mistake
So if when you're coming down
You see in the late night film queue Someone who looks like me - you're wrong!

Though we all move on sir Reasons there are none sir I suppose that's how it's meant to be Hey, nothing's what it seems from far away
I hear you're really going somewhere Joe
I hear you're really going somewhere Joe
I hear you're really going somewhere Joe
