

Spongecola, Nocturne

Laid my head on a pillow
Watched the night go by
Watched the checkered pillowcases come alive
Silence croons me slowly
And i wonder how you are
Are you sleeping soundly
You don't quite feel as far

Saw your name written on the ceiling
Not sure if i'm still dreaming of you
I've seen you in my sleep

From across the room the clock leers
As i try to sleep again
I would rather shorten the night
Than lengthen the day
In sleep
We lose half ourselves

I would rather spend it dreaming of you

Saw your name written on the ceiling
Not sure if i'm still dreaming of you
I've seen you in my sleep

Saw your name written on the ceiling
Not sure if i'm still dreaming of you
I've seen you in my sleep

Saw your name written on the ceiling
Not sure if i'm still dreaming of you
I've seen you in my sleep

Saw your name written on the ceiling
Not sure if i'm still dreaming of you
I've seen you in my sleep

Saw your name written on the ceiling
Not sure if i'm still dreaming of you
I've seen you in my sleep

I've seen you in my sleep

I've seen you in my sleep

I've seen you in my sleep
