

Staind, King Of All Excuses

You, I trusted your intentions the trust you took advantage of now you are sitting in the hole that you dug around yourself

You lie so much you think it's true and you know what the truth is.
How does someone get to be like you,
the king of all excuses?

Dark deception caught inside the web you have spun Did you forget you have a family, the damage you have done?

I trusted you
I trusted in you

This time you're gonna get it All the things you've done coming back to you
This time you're gonna feel it Your conscience slowly suffocating you In time you will regret it Say goodbye to all the things you've gotten used to Life will find a way to bring this karma to you
Life will find a way to bring this karma to you

Everything must come full circle it kills me that I feel this hurtful I wonder what your children think of you
the king of all excuses.