

Star Salzman, Something Magic

There's something magic in the way she says my name,
It's in the consonants baby even though it's spelled the same,
So I walk and I talk and I walk and I talk to you,
I wanna bonk you on your head

I can see clearly now,
She's all that I want
And all that I need,
She's got me with her gravity

I can't breathe freely now,
I'm gonna find a way
To make you understand
Just how I feel about you

There's something magic in the way she says my name,
There's something special when the air we breathe is the same,
And I fall, lose it all, and I fall, lose it all to you,
I wanna bonk you on your head

(Organ solo)

There's something magic in the way she says my name,
It's in the consonants baby even though it's spelled the same,
So I walk and I talk and I walk and I talk...

I can see freely now,
There's nothin to fear
And nothing to see,
I've got you in my gravity

The pull is too strong,
I can't break free,
Are you waiting for me?
I wanna bonk you on your head

There's something magic in your eyes when you look at me,
It's like perfection mixed with hazy in mild congruity
You're all that I want and all that I see...

I can see freely now,
There's nothing to fear
And nothing to see,
If you're waiting for me

Cuz I'm
Waiting for you, waiting for you girl...

There's something magic in the way she says my name,
It's in the consonants baby even though it's spelled the same,
There's something magic in the way she says my name,
It's in the consonants baby even though it's spelled the same,
So I walk and I talk and I walk and I talk to you,
I wanna bonk you on your head
