

Stars, Today Will Be Better, I Swear!

The only problem with going to bed
Is you have to wake up in the morning
When you can't get up
To the cold morning light
But you don't get to sleep in
Still dreaming

And everybody only wants to fight
You're up against
Never being right
When the worries of the world hold your feet
And there's little left to believe in

Today, today, is gonna be a better one
There's nothing more to take in
Going wrong
Today, today, is gonna be a better one
There's nothing more to take in
Going wrong
There's nothing more to take in
Going wrong

Old pale memories of someone you knew
Keep crawling through the back of your mind
Stealing time

And in the daylight you're crossing all your wires
You never knew just how to put out a fire
And the closet has been shaken with bones
Little reminders that you're out on your own

Today, today, is gonna be a better one
There's nothing more to take in
Going wrong
Today, today, is gonna be a better one
There's nothing more to take in
Going wrong
There's nothing more to take in
Going wrong

Today, today, keep your head
And drive again
There's nothing more to battle
When you go

Today, today, is gonna be a better one
There's nothing more to take in
Going wrong
There's nothing more to take in
Going wrong