Static X, Machine

I see your bleeding dark side I feel your angry heart Reveals forbidden places More monster yet alive No faith Changing into something less than human No longer part of this The influence Changing into something less than human No longer part of this machine No mind Changing into something less than human No longer part of this machine It's chemical Changing into something less than human No longer part of this machine Get into my hidden demon Get out of my swollen head Shines down on blackened faces Changing at your expense