Status Quo, All We Really Wanna Do

I thought it over in a quiet room What about it, what about the dream? Of the future, looking much better, Wonder what is on the other side When we get there, if we do make it Better than it was before

I think about it, would we be the same?
Working at it, will we fall again?
For the same lines and the same reasons
Would we let them take us for a ride?
By the next time and the time after
Won't be any time at all
No there won't be any time at all

'Cos all we really wanna do is what we wanna do and do it all the day But we never ever think about it, life goes on and love gets in the way Everybody does the same old thing and goes ahead and does it anyway

Write a letter to a magazine Talk about it, talk about the dream Of the future, looking much better, Wonder what is on the other side By the next time and the time after Won't be any time at all No there won't be any time at all

'Cos all we really wanna do is what we wanna do and do it all the day But we never ever think about it, life goes on and love gets in the way All we really wanna do is what we wanna do and do it all the day But we never ever think about it, life goes on and love gets in the way All we really wanna do is what we wanna do and do it all the day But we never ever think about it, life goes on and love gets in the way