

Status Quo, Driving To Glory

(parfitt / edwards)

You get addicted to the power, the money and the fame
You need everybody to remember your name

With the heart of a lion in a female frame
Can you take the pressure can you take the pain

Driving to glory, driving to fame
Driving to glory, driving to fame

Sometimes your body aches so much you think it's gonna crack
When your motor's running there's no time for looking back

There isn't anything that anyone could ever say

Change their mind but if they try you push them all away

Driving to glory, driving to fame
Driving to glory, driving to fame

You get addicted to the power, the money and the fame
You need everybody to remember your name

When the pushing comes to shoving are you ready for the test
Faster, meaner, better than the rest

Driving to glory, driving to fame
Driving to glory, driving to fame

Driving to glory, driving to glory
